

William C. “Bill” Baisley

2018 “Sumpin’ Big” Scholarship

William C. “Bill” Baisley has been a key leader throughout his career in Georgia agriculture and will always hold a place of prominence in the economic success of our state’s $23.3 billion poultry industry. He has been an active member of the Georgia Agribusiness Council for more than 30 years serving in every leadership position possible. Bill helped lay the foundation, secure the roof, and strengthen the load bearing walls of our organization by insisting on sound management based on the fundamentals of service and a love for people. In 2017, Bill was inducted into the Georgia Agriculture Hall of Fame.

Bill Baisley has always been a leader and in his wisdom, he has always encouraged other to dream big. A phrase he used, “Folks, we need sumpin’ big” caught on and been used by many to address challenges facing business and organization leaders. One such “sumpin’ big” challenge in our organization was met by creating a worker’s compensation insurance program for the agribusiness industry in Georgia. This program, AgriTrust of Georgia, is now in its 25th year and serves over 700 agribusinesses. Bill was a founding trustee of AgriTrust of Georgia and his leadership has played a vital role in the success of the program. It was his original challenge set the journey in motion and many agribusinesses across Georgia have reaped the benefit.
